Do you have a current first aid?

Accidents happen - but are you equipped to respond quickly and effectively in an emergency situation?

Diversity Skills Training is currently running a nationally recognised, practical, and easy to understand training course that is held over two days (with an option of one day online).

Our comprehensive course aims to provide you with the skills to not only to be in control of an emergency situation but to also reduce the chances of further injury to the victim/s, yourself and others around you. Knowing what action needs to be taken in an emergency can be the difference between life and death.

The key aims of first aid is to:
1. Preserve life of anyone involved in an incident
2. Protect any unconscious person
3. Prevent any further injury or existing injury becoming worse
4. Promote recovery of casualty

How confident are you with your first aid skills?

You could save a life!

Frequently Asked Questions

What is first aid?
First aid is the initial care of a sick and injured person before emergency services or medical aid arrive. It can prevent injury of illness from becoming worse, and provide comfort and reassurance to a casualty.

Why do I need it?
First aid is used to contain an emergency situation. Even though it might be a legal requirement for your job, it would make good personal and community sense to be trained in first aid. First aid is essential in emergency situations especially as accidents can happen at any time - when you’re at work, out and about and even at home!

How much does it cost?
We have competitive prices for each of our courses so call us for a quote or refer to our website.

How long does it take for me to get my certificate?
If you have completed your enrolment form and supplied us with your Unique Student Identifier (If you do not have one, you can apply for one on www.usi.gov.au), we are able to issue a certificate on the day you successfully complete the course.

The first aid training that we are offering:
